A correspondent writes to The Republic and takes issue with a statement made in this column about the merits of Peter Jackson. The correspondent holds that if Jackson was a first-class man he would have whipped Jee McAuliffe. George Godfrey and Patay Cardiff in much shorter erser than he did. He also refers to the fact that Denver Bil Smith kept Jackson busy for five rounds in Chicago.

All of which is quite true. Jackson was not a student. He outclassed McAuliffe. Cardiff and Godfrey. Hence he was not a student. He outclassed McAuliffe. Cardiff and Godfrey. Smith did have him ured and very near out in Chicago. Jackson was not fit to bex that night. By the same token, few better men ever pulled on a glove than that same Denver Ed. He was a clever follow, a wonderful hitter with both hands and knew the game from A to Z. Had he been of sober habits and ambilious mind he would have been one of the great fighters of all ages. This advantage he increased until he swung down the stretch for home, when Sweet Marie reached his wheel, but the gelding won handily by a half length. Sweet Marie was under a hard drive. The time, 2.5%, was the trotting record of the year, beating that of Doctor Strong at Detroit last week by half a second.
